Figure 1 consists of seven sub-diagrams labeled 1 through 7, illustrating the steps of the proposed algorithm for finding the minimum spanning tree (MST) in a graph with 10 nodes and 15 edges. The edges are labeled with their weights.

- Diagram 1: Shows the initial graph with all edges. The edges are labeled with their weights: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15.
- Diagram 2: Shows the graph after selecting the edge with the minimum weight (1) and removing the edges that would either create a cycle or result in a vertex with a degree greater than 2.
- Diagram 3: Shows the graph after selecting the next minimum weight edge (2) and removing the edges that would either create a cycle or result in a vertex with a degree greater than 2.
- Diagram 4: Shows the graph after selecting the next minimum weight edge (3) and removing the edges that would either create a cycle or result in a vertex with a degree greater than 2.
- Diagram 5: Shows the graph after selecting the next minimum weight edge (4) and removing the edges that would either create a cycle or result in a vertex with a degree greater than 2.
- Diagram 6: Shows the graph after selecting the next minimum weight edge (5) and removing the edges that would either create a cycle or result in a vertex with a degree greater than 2.
- Diagram 7: Shows the final minimum spanning tree (MST) with 9 edges and a total weight of 25.

Paul, confirming our conversation, I have spent no funds to date on running for the short term School Board office. I do not plan on spending any funds. Should this change, I will let you immediately know. Tomorrow morning I leave for China and will not return until November 1st. Should you need to contact me for any reason while I am out of the country, you can use my email billslivinski@hotmail.com Thank you. Bill Slivinski
